MEMORANDUM FOR: Chief, ERA/RR

SUBJECT : Meeting with Jacques Reinstein, INR/State,
13 April 1967 at State Department

1. Jacques Reinstein is currently associated with the Office of Strategic and Functional Research, INR, and I believe he is acting as Jim Leonard's deputy. Prior to his present assignment he was attached to the Foreign Service Institute -- where he ran the program on economics training -- and prior to that was Economic Counselor in Paris. He is an old acquaintance of the undersigned, and as far as I know, a good friend of the Agency.

2. I stopped off to see Mr. Reinstein because he had told me that after his FSI assignment was terminated, he would be assigned to INR, primarily with the task of servicing Eugene Rostow. In fact, he stated that the servicing arrangement with Rostow had not turned out as he had expected. (Apparently, Rostow is being adequately handled through other channels.)

3. However, Reinstein was interested in getting some studies started which would be of longer run benefit to foreign policy determination and he is particularly interested in trade, and trade in the European Common Market area. He spoke of such studies as the probable effects if Spain, or the UK, or Austria entered the Common Market, as an illustrative of such studies. He asked about ORR capabilities for research on Western Europe and on trade matters, and I gathered that there have been some discussions with [REDACTED] people already.

4. I told Mr. Reinstein that we had relatively few people working on the Free World and on Free World trade, and that our capabilities were quite limited but that this was the best time of the year to talk about longer run research projects since we were now developing the FY 68 Research Schedule. I gave him the name of Chief E as the person he should contact to lay out the questions that seemed to him to be important to study, but made no promises that we would be

CONFIDENTIAL

25X1A able to do any of these. However, I would expect a Reinstein-to-[REDACTED] telephone call in the near future, and this memo is to alert you as to the immediate background of the case.
